Making-A-Way Workshop-

"I want to be a police officer"

"I want to play basketball"

"I want to be a fashion designer"

These are some of the dreams that were voiced at a recent workshop for CAEP Inc.

The workshop used Bruce Wilkerson's "Dream Giver" as a backdrop to the idea that we like to stay in our comfort zone and stay with the familiar. The teens made a plan, thinking about all the things that could happen on the way to their dream, and apply steps to stay on course- to make their dream a reality.

"Making A Way".

Sylvia Stokes of the Leadership Connection led this workshop at CAEP. She is available to conduct workshops for teens and adults on Making A Way, helping you to find your purpose and making your dream a reality. Ms Stokes says, "I want people to understand that nothing is comfortable if you want it bad enough, the familiar will not get you your dreams. In order to get to your dream - your reality, you MUST think about the "what ifs' " and plan for them, Create a plan and seek out "champions" seek out people who will help you get to your reality. Make connections, take names and numbers, and use them on your journey."

Talent Show Summary

Our Annual Talent Show was held on Saturday, February 16, 2008. Nine performers participated in the competition: Phillip Pereira, Daysharr Robinson, Yasmari Estrada, Reginald Orvat, Frank LaMonde Jose Oise, Nadia Turner, Barbara Ann Williams, and Patricia Langenberg.

We had a variety of performances such as singing, dancing, a poem recital, an instrumental performance and a martial arts demonstration.

The contestants were judged for their performance, stage presence, originality and style.

Awards were given to three contestants. Patricia Langenberg won third prize for her "Pink Panther" performance on the saxophone. Philip Pereira was awarded second prize for his singing performance of "Testify To Love." First prize winner was Joseph Oise for his singing performances. Joseph generously donated his prize to the C.A.E.P. Program, "to continue its' work helping the kids in the community."

Weekly Contact Contest- We at College Application Education Project, Inc. (CAEP) are excited about an opportunity to get students and families gift cards to community based businesses. The student with the most contacts with our staff (discuss college, school, family life etc.) during a week wins a gift card from a community business. For this project to be a success, we are asking companies to help us out this year by becoming a partner with CAEP and provide gift card(s) and/ or a tax deductible donation. The benefits of the students contact with the greater community through gift cards are immeasurable. Since November, 2007 over five hundred dollars in gift cards have been given away to students and
